The following is a synopsis of the changes:

Due to no QPL source and no procurements in over 10 years these specification sheets are being cancelled.

Concurrence or comments are required at this Center no later than 17 January 2020. If comments are not received during the allotted coordination period, concurrence may be assumed. Late comments may be held for the next specification action. Comments from military departments must be identified as either “Essential” or “Suggested”. Essential comments must be justified with supporting data.
